

CLOSER

Fearing the one and last end I join my hands together again

Creating myself delusion of better tomorrow

At the end of tunnel they say there's a light

Like frail taste of divinity

Life's more than leaving and praying for safe

Oh god please remind me

Wasted day will be a day never lived and seen

Death ain't just dying and fading away

My absence surrounds me

And now I see life did not fail me, I was the one to blame

Note by note I'm getting closer to silence and harmony

Tears shed for unwritten words and thoughts are the most painful

What would I sing at my own funeral

Would I even know to whom I'd sing

Life's more than leaving and praying for safe

Oh god please remind me

Wasted day will be a day never lived and seen

Death ain't just dying and fading away

My absence surrounds me

And now I see life did not fail me, I was the one to blame

Most beautiful escape in my sweet dreams

I thought it would make me my own god

Life's more than leaving and praying for safe

Oh god please remind me

Wasted day will be a day never lived and seen

Death ain't just dying and fading away

My absence surrounds me

And now I see life did not fail me, I was the one to blame

Two more eyes will never see, two more hands won't ever touch again

One more soul will be hurt forever and never no more